Archival Images (still images and photographs)

This chart will help you look at the still images that you find. Possible places to find images depend on the nature of your project. Good places to find material are the Internet, home photo albums, books, magazines, library resources, your subject's belongings (be sure to get permission). Also, you need to consider whether the images are in digital format or not. If they are not, you either need to scan them into your computer or take a picture (check to make sure you have good lighting).
